COUNCIL ACTS TO END SOOT, SMOKE CASES

City Attorney Told to Give Offenders Final Warning

Dixon's smoke ordinance is to be given its initial test at an early date it appears, provided that some satisfactory arrangement is not decided upon within a very short time. It was decided at last evening's session of the city council. Mayor Frank Palmer informed the council that official complaint had been made to him of the smoke nuisance in the east end of the city in which the Reynolds Wire Company and the Dixon Ice Company were named as the chief offenders. He told the council members that he believed that some action should be taken now that complaint had been registered officially but added that no warrants had been issued.

Commissioner Charles E. Miller of the department of Public Health and Safety stated that he had made some investigation into the smoke nuisance during the past week and had learned that an effort was being made to abate it. Mayor Palmer told the council that a suit had been threatened if the ordinance was not enforced. The matter was discussed briefly and finally the city attorney was notified to inform the named violators and issue a final warning.

Mayor Frank D. Palmer reported briefly the action of the Illinois Municipal League convention which he attended as a delegate from Dixon and which was held at Joliet last week.

An ordinance vacating an alley between lots 661 and 662 in Oakwood cemetery was passed as presented by Commissioner Louis Schumm.

Semi-monthly bills amounting to $2,467.98 were read and ordered paid.

Hospital Complaints.

Concerning the smoke nuisance the Board of Directors of the Dixon Public Hospital, today wrote to The Telegraph.

"The hospital management confirms all and everything that has been claimed by east end residents in two recent issues of the Evening Telegraph relative to the Smoke and Soot Nuisance.

"There are times when the smoke and soot from factory chimneys are positively unbearable, pouring through open windows, contaminating the air, making walls, furnishings and apparatus black and unsightly, causing much extra expense to the hospital for laundry, cleaning and decorating walls.

"This condition has not been borne uncomplainingly by the hospital management. The Mayor and the president of the Reynolds Wire Company have both been apprised by the hospital board of the condition and persecution at the hospital, but no relief has been provided.

"The Board of Directors of the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital hereby make an appeal to the Mayor and the Commissioners of the City of Dixon to enforce the smoke and soot ordinance."

Dixon Will Contest League Championship

The management of the Dixon Independents baseball team announced today that the championship of the Black Hawk League would be contested, and that a game to be played here next Sunday afternoon with the Milledgeville All-Stars would decide the winner of the title. The Independents won a double header from Milledgeville last Sunday in a three game series to decide the championship. If the Independents win next Sunday they will lay claim to the honors.

It is claimed that Polo and the Rockford Mutuals left the league before the season was over, thus leaving Dixon and Milledgeville leading. At the time of the break up in the league, the Mutuals were leading, while Polo trailed Dixon in third place. Polo, by defeating the Mutuals last Sunday, claimed the championship. Should the Independents be successful in winning next Sunday's game from Milledgeville a challenge for a three or five game series will be issued to Polo to decide the point in argument.

KIDNAPED BOY TURNED LOOSE BY ABDUCTORS

Says He Was Prisoner in Farm House; Not Treated Badly

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A little boy with black eye wandered into a Joliet, Ill., filling station last night, and the 13-day search for the kidnaped Billy Ranieri was ended.

It was a very calm youngster who said to the station attendant, George Mats: "I want to go home. I've been kidnaped." Calm, particularly in view of the fact that his disappearance, the demand of $65,000 ransom for his return and a sequence of threatening letters to his parents had numbed with dread the Chicago community of Chicago in which he lived.

The lad, who is 10 years old, was unhurt except for the eye discoloration caused, he said, by a blow from one of the kidnapers' fists. He told a connected story of imprisonment on a farm and had a good word to say for the man and woman who were his jailers. His principal point, which he repeatedly emphasized during the hours of questioning by Sheriff Markgraf, was that he wanted to go home "and see my mamma."

Taken to Farm House
"They hit me over the head in the eye when they dragged me into their car," Billy said, reciting the details of the kidnaping. "September 5, they kept telling me to shut up, and when I hollered anyway, they hit me."

The boy said he was taken by his two abductors to a farm house. He didn't know exactly where it was. "The men who kidnaped me were Italian," he said. "The man and woman to whose farm they took me were French. I couldn't understand what the farm people said, but I can understand Italian. The farmer treated me all right. There was a little boy there, and we played together. Once I got away, but they caught me."

"The two men came several times to the farmhouse and talked with the man and woman, but I could not hear what they said. Always they would lock me in the closet when the men came."

Turned Loose Tuesday
Billy said that the same two men who had kidnaped him as he was starting home from school two weeks ago turned him loose last night. They put him in an automobile and drove for half an hour, he said. They stopped and one of the men gave him a $10 bill.

"Walk straight ahead," the man told him, "until you come to a street car track. Get on the car and tell the conductor you want to go to Chicago. When you get there you can telephone your father."

Chicago police immediately went to Joliet. Deputy Commissioner Stege himself taking charge of the questioning in an effort to learn where the boy was held prisoner. Billy's father, A. Frank Ranieri, sewer contractor, also reached Joliet a few hours after the boy was found, but he was not permitted to see his son until the officers had finished their questioning.

Corn is maturing nicely, and much of it is now safe. Some have been blown down. Silos are being filled. Farmers are busy with stubble plowing and wheat seeding. OGLE CO. JAIL BREAKER IS CAPTURED IN EAST GROVE TOWNSHIP BY LEE SHERIFF

LA FOLLETTE LOST CONTROL OF WIS. REP. COMMITTEE

Conservatives Control the Convention in Hectic Struggles

BY DONALD C. BOLLES
Associated Press Correspondent

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—(AP)—In a bitter and protracted struggle that lasted until dawn today, the conservatives gained the adoption by the state Republican convention of a platform pledges support to Hoover and Curtis, embodies the pledges of Walter J. Kohler, Republican gubernatorial nominee and urges a thorough legislative inquiry into any excessive political expenditures in campaigns of the past four years.

In the final act of the hectic 17 hour session the progressives turned the tables, as they had several times during the convention, to elect Herman L. Ekern, former Attorney General and a progressive, chairman of the newly organized and conservative state central committee in a bitter contest. The convention overrode the will of the progressives on major questions for the first time in eight years. Holding the whip hand throughout the night but with no certainty that they could continue to dominate the situation, the conservatives forced into the discard the principles of Senator Robert M. La Follette and his followers.

With the progressives fighting for every advantage, the conservatives made the will of Mr. Kohler prevail as the platform of the Republican party in Wisconsin. They also defeated the progressive proposal demanding an investigation of excessive sums in political campaigns and incorporated in the platform, with no objection from their beaten opponents, a plank urging a legislative inquiry into any excessive political expenditures during campaigns for state and national offices in Wisconsin during the past four years.

The progressive platform following closely the lines of the one on which La Follette ran for nomination in the primary was rejected 62-59 late Tuesday night after being offered as a minority report of the resolutions committee. That body was controlled six to five by the conservatives.

The platform which was accepted by the convention shortly after five o'clock this morning, with two amendments attached, was similar to that on which the conservative Republican candidate successfully sought the gubernatorial nomination.

"ROMA" FORCED BACK IN TRIP ACROSS OCEAN

Broken Air Intake is Cause of Delay Early Today

Old Orchard, Maine, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A broken air intake on the carburetor, caused by backfire, halted the projected trans-Atlantic flight of the Roma today before the big Bellanca plane had covered five miles of the 4,450 to Rome.

The plane returned to the beach here 21 minutes after it had taken off. Joseph Bellanca of Wilmington, Del., designer of the plane, said the cockpit could be fixed without difficulty. The fliers, however, would make no statement as to their further plans.

Commander Cesare Sabelli declared when the Roma landed that he could not say what had caused the apparent failure of the motor to function perfectly until he had a conference with the other fliers.

An inspection of the motor revealed that the air intake on the carburetor was broken and bent. The intake had been pronounced perfect on an inspection prior to the take off and the fliers believed the wheel of the plane had picked up a stone and thrown it against the mechanism with force enough to bend it.

Gasoline was thrown over the side when the motor began to miss and when the Roma landed it was dripping with the fuel.

Charles Dunn, Wanted in Rochelle, Taken at Girl's Home

Charles Dunn, 25, who with three other prisoners who were confined in the Rochelle city jail last Wednesday evening following a free for all fist fight, and who escaped by removing the bars from a small window in the corridor of the lock up, was taken in custody by Sheriff Ward Miller and deputies yesterday afternoon. Dunn, who claims to have been in hiding at Rochelle since the jail break, under the cover of darkness had gone to the home of his sweetheart, who resides in East Grove township, where he was surprised by the visit of the Lee county officers.

Dunn, a friend from Rochelle and his sweetheart, were seated in a car in the barn yard when Sheriff Miller arrived. Before the jail breaker had an opportunity to realize that he was sought by the officers, he had been handcuffed, searched and placed in the sheriff's car. He was brought direct to Dixon and placed in the county jail until Chief Deputy Clint Myers of Oregon arrived at 5 o'clock and took him back to Ogle county.

Dunn was enjoying his liberty on bonds for the theft of wool in Rochelle and is now wanted on the charge of jail breaking. His bondsman is reported to have received information that Dunn planned to leave this locality and requested the Ogle county officers to arrest him and compel him to furnish a new bond.

The young woman, who is six years Dunn's senior, was questioned by Sheriff Miller and in her story, it developed that some time ago, she and Dunn had lived in this city. Dunn is also said to have passed a worthless check at a local hotel only recently, which he made good. It is reported that he intended returning to his home in Rochelle last night under cover of darkness and then planned to leave for parts unknown.

POSSE SOUGHT MAN WHO HIT OGLE CO. LADY

Alleged Coal Thief in Woosung Quarry of Officials

Deputy Sheriff Fred Richardson was summoned to Woosung yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock in response to an emergency call, when it was reported that an old brick house in that village was believed to house a thief who had been active in the taking of coal from the shed on the Edward Houpt property. It was reported that residents of the village were unable to reach Sheriff Good at Oregon and the Lee county deputy answered the call.

Arriving he found residents armed with shot guns, rifles, scythes and clubs surrounding the old brick house, where the thief was thought to have hid. Some of the braver members of the party went with the officer into the house and investigated but found that the building was uninhabited.

The thief was reported to have been paying repeated visits to the coal house of Edward Houpt, where locks were removed and coal taken. Monday afternoon Mrs. Houpt heard an unusual noise in the vicinity of the coal shed and when she went to investigate she found that a man wearing a blue shirt was in the building. The stranger struck her over the head, knocking her down, and then ran. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Houpt described a man answering the same description and informed neighbors, who immediately formed a posse and summoned the Lee county officers. Before the townspeople could be gathered together, the man had disappeared again and for some time was thought to be in hiding in the vacant brick house.

BOY SCOUTS OF AREA TO TOUR EUROPE IN '29

Will be Chosen by Competition for Journey Abroad

Thirty-two Boy Scouts of the four counties of the Blackhawk area will tour Europe next summer.

The boys will attend the international scout jamboree at Birkenhead, England, at which 50,000 scouts from 47 nations will gather, and later will tour England and continental Europe by motor bus.

This was announced today by George Driesbach, executive secretary of the Blackhawk area, who Sunday evening returned from a national training conference for scout leaders at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y.

Local scouts who will take the European trip will be chosen on a competitive basis from among the several thousand scouts of the area. Only those of the Life and Eagle rank are eligible, however.

The American scout delegation of which the local group will be a part, will sail from New York in the middle of July and will spend ten days at the Birkenhead meeting where international games and tournaments will be held in honor of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, father of scouting.

The occasion will be the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of the organization. After the jamboree, the scouts will split up in groups for a complete tour of England with visits to London, Liverpool, Manchester, the home of Shakespeare at Stratford-on-Avon and many other places of interest.

They then will cross the channel to France and tour continental Europe. It is considered probable that the Blackhawk delegation will take its own motor bus across and make the European tour as one unit. The entire tour will last five weeks.

Seek Illinois Legislator for Robbery Question

The two bandits have been the object of search by a posse of 200 following a running gun battle through a corn field when the pair abandon their automobile.

Scraps of paper in the field attracted the attention of Ray Buck, New Lisbon Chief of Police, because of their brightness. Gathered and pieced together, it was discovered that they were addressed to the Illinois legislature.

FINE PROGRESS REPORTED NOW ON ROAD SOUTH

Pouring of Cement on 89 Near Ohio is Now Under Way

The Trompeter & Sons Construction Company of Peru have started work on the paving of route 89 in Lee county and are making rapid strides toward the spreading of the cement strip which is expected to provide Dixon with one of its most important paved highways. Litigation which has served to hold up right of way in Marion township, had delayed activity to considerable extent in Lee county's section of this important route, but with the announcement last week of the clearing up of these difficulties, it is apparent that work will be rushed to a hurried completion.

The Trompeter Company has been busy for several days moving one of their cement laying crews from south of Ohio to Shaffer's corners in East Grove township, two miles north of the Bureau-Lee county line. Starting at this point, cement is now being poured, forming the slab which runs south and will connect with the paving at Ohio. Work was started Monday afternoon and the first day saw more than a half mile of cement poured. Weather permitting, it is quite possible that the contractor will then return to the Shaffer's corners and start pouring north, as grading has been completed almost to Green river in Marion township.

Wave of Suicide
San Juan police found evidence of the prevalence of the grief and despair in a sudden wave of suicides. Within twenty-four hours four persons killed themselves and four others attempted to take their own lives. Without adequate supplies or efficient help, physicians in the small interior towns have been working 24 hours a day to care for the injured. Many places have no hospital facilities. In others the hospitals have been mostly wrecked.

Twenty-four cases of pneumonia were received from the densely populated San Juan slum district of Puerto de Tierra, he said.

MEDICINE NEEDED
Pointe a Pitre, Guadeloupe, French West Indies, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Medical aid and foodstuffs were urgently needed in Guadeloupe today with three-quarters of the population homeless as a result of the tropical hurricane which devastated the island group on Sept. 12.

The number of deaths at Pointe a Pitre alone today was estimated to be 300 with 1,000 injured. Owing to the complete breakdown of communications no definite information has been received from other parts of the island. Horace Descamps, The Associated Press correspondent, was among those killed at Pointe a Pitre.

The hurricane was the worst ever known here and completely devastated Guadeloupe.

The mayor asked that an urgent appeal be made to the American Red Cross through The Associated Press for relief. He said the necessities most urgently needed were medical aid and assistance and foodstuffs.

IN STONES

I had no mood today
 To fashion rhythms on a page;
 Instead, I saw my poem
 In thought—upon a barren spot,
 And set about the making.

The first sweet verse was stones—
 (Each one a poem), soft gray,
 Embossed with lichens

In marvelous designs,
 Some wrapped in velvet moss,
 Others white as snow
 And delicately veined with silver;
 I sought them on the mountainside
 And where the melted snow
 Rushes between deep banks.

This verse was long in making.
 For stones are friendly things (to me)
 And one must be admiring and caressing.

Ah, no! One cannot hurry
 When making poems with stones.

The second verse began
 When pine tree shadows lengthened
 And chipmunks hurried home to supper.
 Black forest mold piled deep, stones
 —mold.

A forest garden for a poem today!
 Upon the barren spot
 My poem is written:
 The sun and rain will add the last
 And loveliest verse of all—
 Wild roses!

Bridge Made Easy

(Abbreviations: A—ace; K—king; Q—queen; J—jack; X—any card lower than 10.)

SIX ALIBI CONVENTIONS—5

Sometimes the "third hand high" rule is also quoted thus: "Never finesse against your partner." Literally followed, it would mean that every time your partner led a card, you, as third hand, should play the highest card of that suit in your hand.

The futility of carrying out such instructions becomes quite apparent in the following illustrations:

West leads spades 3; dummy holds spades 6 5; east holds spades K Q J.

East should play the Jack of spades. Playing the King of Spades would deny the Queen and Jack of spades.

West leads hearts 3; dummy holds hearts 6 5; east holds hearts A Q.

East should play the Ace of hearts. Playing the Queen of hearts would be finessing against partner.

West leads diamond 3; dummy holds diamonds K 7 6; east holds diamonds A Q J.

Obviously, east should play the Ace of diamonds only if the King of diamonds is played from the dummy. Otherwise, east should play the Jack of diamonds.

West leads clubs 3; dummy holds clubs K 5; east holds clubs A J 6 2.

If dummy covers with the King of clubs, east should in turn cover with the Ace of clubs. If the 5 of clubs is played from the dummy, east should play the Jack of clubs.

West leads diamonds 6; dummy holds diamonds K 7 6; east holds diamonds A Q J.

Obviously, east should play the Ace of diamonds only if the King of diamonds is played from the dummy. Otherwise, east should play the Jack of diamonds.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUGER

Gene Tunney is much aggrieved because "the whole world is in on my love affair." With a nice choice of only those words becoming a gentleman and a scholar he deplores the plain snoopiness of a curious world which wants to know how his girl looks, when they'll be married, where they'll live, how they'll get along, and all the things that a romance-hungry world has wondered about young lovers since the beginning of time.

POLLY TALKS
 The charming young lady, on the contrary, has consented without much urging to discuss her engagement to one of the nation's most eligible bachelors, to pose in various charming settings, and does not seem to hate the world's attitude at all. One who have expected her to be the annoyed one, not a man who, having made fame and fortune through the marvels of publicity, should have learned by now that the penalty of fame is no privacy, and that the price one pays for welcome publicity is the price of the unwelcome kind, too.

I'D BE PEEVED!
 Seriously, if I were Mary Josephine alias "Polly," Lauder I would be a little hurt at the young man's attitude. It almost looks as if he were so shrouding his own sense of dignity and importance in cotton batting that he forgets that the girl might really want the whole world to see that her Gene doesn't give an upper right if the whole world sees him kiss his girl good-bye or knows that he sends her a cable every day or will fight mobs of reporters on her doorstep, he's going to see and be seen with his girl, anyway! Even his cables are carefully couched to include all her family. Gene may be a good fighter but he uses funny tactics as a lover!

WHERE'S THE DADA?
 Would you cross the road to see the dresses that Lillian Gish wore in "Way Down East" or the shoes Charlie Chaplin wore in "The Kid"? Hollywood believes you would, for it has just opened a museum containing wardrobes worn by famous stars in famous pictures together with celebrated props such as the wooden horse of "Helen of Troy," French village of "The Big Parade," and the like.

One imagines that the day is not far off when such things will have a real historic value, judging by the many changes made in the movies right now. I am not willing to call the changes improvements, however. Who, for instance, wants a talkie movie, anyway?

RUSSIA'S CHILDREN
 Hundreds of Russian boys and girls from mere infants of 5 and 6, to young men and women of 20, marched to Red Square on Labor Day to prove their support of Communism and dedication to it. Hands, many of them are raised in holy horror at what the hand lifters call "this exploitation of youth." But why? Have our own school children stand in pretty little rows and pledge allegiance to their flag. Why shouldn't children of the Soviet do the same in their own way?

WOMEN'S DUDS
 How this matter of clothes does continue to agitate the world! A Belgian priest criticizes Princess Astrid, wife of Crown Prince Leopold, for wearing too short skirts. Little girls appearing in knickers for their first day of school are sent home for "more suitable" garments, and a lady judge wouldn't even let a woman witness tell what she saw in a certain fracas because the lady came into court in knickers and a peek-a-boo waist.

One might say "what of it?" But there is something to it, after all! Both men's and women's dress has throughout all ages had more social significance than most any other factor in human living.

POINTERS FOR PARENTS

BREAKING A HABIT—
 (By Mrs. Agnes Lyne)

All morning outside my window I hear an irritated voice: "Take your fingers out of your mouth," Joseph, Joseph, take your fingers out of your mouth."

A climax of annoyance is reached and I hear the little hands being slapped. Joseph cries. A few minutes later the voice takes up its futile refrain. Out on the lawn stands a little two year old boy with nothing to do. A silly mechanical toy lies at his feet. He'd rather suck his fingers than play with it.

This situation repeats itself day after day. The young mother who is so scrupulous about naps and orange juice never stops her round of duties for a moment to wonder why Joseph sucks his fingers and how she can break him of the habit.

If she took time to watch her child she would observe that he sucks his fingers as a consolation when things are going hard with him or out of sheer boredom because he has nothing to do. She would divine that the gratification of sucking his fingers in some measure atones for his exile since his baby sister came to usurp his place in his mother's love and attention.

She would stop scolding and punishing. She would provide him with the sort of toys that would keep his hands too busy to get into mischief. A few old pie tins and a wooden spoon would prove glorious entertainment. He could dig and spill the dirt from one pan to another and imitate. He could bang the spoon upon the pans and make a splendid and satisfying noise.

If his mother would take pains to plan her day so that, when baby sister was tucked away for her nap, Joseph could feel that he had his mother all to himself again for a little while, it would further relieve the tension which underlies his apparent disobedience.

Thoughtless discipline is worse than useless. In breaking any undesirable habit it is imperative to find out the cause, and as far as possible remove it. It is equally necessary to substitute some desirable habit in its place.

SORE THROAT AND SUPPRESSION.

An epidemic of the mysterious malady known as septic sore throat struck the Berkshire section of Massachusetts this summer. It caused a number of deaths, medical science not yet having found a sure way to master it; and it probably cost that part of Massachusetts $1,000,000 in diminished expenditures by vacationists, who stayed away when news of the disease was broadcast.

A decade or so ago the business leaders who felt this loss would have stormed the newspapers offices demanding that stories about the epidemic be "played down" so that vacationists would not be scared away. Now they are wiser.

Instead of asking a policy of concealment, civic leaders are planning a big medical campaign to eradicate the disease. Strict public health measures will be enforced; next summer, if it is humanly possible, the Berkshires will not have any septic sore throat cases.

How much better than the old-fashioned effort to suppress news! This new method of attacking the problem indicates that we are making progress.

SPEEDING IN BUGGIES.

The horseless age may be upon us, and the automobile may be the equipage of the day—but listen to this little tale: The other day, in Brooklyn, two men were arrested for speeding in buggies.

An astonished motorcycle cop saw two old-fashioned horse-drawn buggies coming down the street at a terrific clip. As they shot past him he ordered the drivers to stop. They refused, and he had to chase them. Taken to court, the men said they had made a bet as to who could drive a horse the fastest. It had never occurred to them that they might break the speed limit. They were fined $5 apiece.

It is not often, these days, that the driver of a horse gets arrested for speeding. When it does happen it's front-page news.

OUR ENLIGHTENED ELECTORATE.

The American electorate is, as you all know, highly enlightened and intelligent, and can be trusted to decide at the polls any weighty question.

To be sure. Yet a Detroit attorney, last spring, bet a friend that any man running for Congress under the name of Jefferson in the 13th district could draw at least 10,000 votes, even though he made no effort to introduce himself to the voters.

After the recent primary this attorney collected. He had entered the fictitious name of John G. Jefferson in the congressional primary, making no campaign whatever and exciting not one line of comment. He polled 10,729 votes.

Thus occasionally, does the enlightened American electorate work.

CHANGING VALUE OF BOXERS.

Tex Rickard tells his stockholders in the Madison Square Garden corporation that the passing of the million-dollar gate for prize fights is not such a bad thing, after all.

Tex points out that boxers, of recent years, have been making scads of money while promoters have been going broke. Now that million-dollar gates are over, he feels that boxers will take a much saner view of the value of their services.

The moral aspects of the thing didn't concern Rickard, apparently. Yet the new era is better, all around. It was not a healthy thing for a country to be rewarding pugilists at the rate of half a million dollars per fight. It gave us all a false sense of values. If the hired pug can drop down a few notches in the financial scale it will be better for all of us.

The way Chairman Raskob talks suggests the boy walking through the graveyard after dark and whistling for all he is worth.

A Hoover-for-President club was formed in Essex County, New Jersey, in 1921 with 300 members. It now has a membership of 3,000, which, to say the least, is going some.

The way to keep up the standard of living in this country is to keep up the tariff, and Herbert Hoover will keep it up, don't forget that. He thinks too much of the American home to permit any reduction.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNUCK

The funny little kittens, three, were just as gleeful as could be. They had their little mittens, which the Tynmites had found. "They're covered o'er with mud," said one. "I wonder just how that was done." "I'll tell you how," laughed Scouty. "We just found them on the ground." "If you'll remember, I'll just bet you made mud pies in mud, all wet." "You're right," replied one kitten. "In the mud for hours we toiled at making mud pies. My, twas fun. When through, we jumped right up to run. We left our mittens there, and that is how they all got soiled." "All right," said Copy. "Please don't cry again, 'cause we will shortly try to wash them nice and clean for you. Come on down by the stream." And down they went, the kittens and the Tynmites who lent a hand. They soon were washed and when the Tynmites heard the kittens scream: "Oh, thank you, thank you lots and lots."

A BLACK EYE

A black eye to a person who has not a sense of humor, is an unfortunate affliction, and is apt to be a subject of jest at the hands of friends. The best thing to do under these circumstances is to grin and admit the worst.

Doctors have termed this condition "echymosis palpebrae" which means a discoloration of the skin of the eyelids by a bruise, which allows the escape of blood from the small blood vessels into the tissues of the eyelids.

The tissues about the eye are particularly susceptible to bruising, since they are very soft and have hard bones of the cheek and the ridge bone of the eye socket just beneath. Anything that strikes this area crushes the flesh and causes a severe bruise. Individuals having high cheek bones are more apt to receive a black eye from a blow than those without the prominent bony ridge formation.

A black eye usually requires from one to two weeks for the absorption of most of the blood, and usually some discoloration remains from three weeks to a month longer, but there is much difference between individuals. Those having a good circulation do not suffer much from puffiness and the discoloration does not last long. Others, with poorer circulation, may have badly swollen eyelids that remain discolored for a much longer time.

When you are first struck in the eye by the "doorknob" or "golf ball", it is advisable to apply cold compresses immediately and continue to do so for at least an hour. Ice water is the most satisfactory, since it will greatly retard the flow of blood into the tissues. The good old fashioned remedy of applying raw steak to the eye had its virtue largely in the fact that it was cool and moist. After two or three days, when all danger of increasing the hemorrhage of the blood under the skin is over, you may begin a gentle massage about the eye as assist in the absorption of the blood. Warm applications and gently rubbing in cold cream are also helpful. I do not advise puncturing the skin to drain away the blood unless the case is very severe, and then it should be performed by a doctor, as otherwise a serious infection might result.

If you are a lady, and do not wish your husband to be accused of beating you up, you can apply a flesh-colored theatrical make-up stick to the bruised area. When this is powdered it will almost completely hide the discoloration. You can buy this theatrical preparation at almost any drugstore. If you are a man, the best thing to do is to broadly grin and say, "You should have seen the other fellow."

QUESTION SAND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. W. R. writes: "Three years ago my little girl had infantile paralysis which left her right arm quite useless. She can, with a struggle, move some of the fingers. A specialist wants to operate and graft muscle into the arm. I would like your advice about this."

ANSWER: Your child's arm can be developed through proper treatments with electro-therapy. Certain currents can be applied to the arm muscles which will bring about a normal development. She has all of the muscle cells which are necessary to move the arm if they are only developed. This treatment is far superior to any surgical attempt to graft on another muscle.

QUESTION: Miss D. M. writes: "I have been drinking milk to gain weight, a pint for breakfast, a pint at ten o'clock, at three o'clock and before retiring. Have been drinking it this way for two months but do not seem to gain much. Do I drink enough? Do I drink it at the right hours?"

ANSWER: If you take your milk along with other foods you will only bring on some disorder because of this over-feeding. If you want to try to gain weight through taking the milk diet it is necessary to give up all other foods. Then take a glass of milk every half hour during the day which will give you about six quarts daily. If you can drink this much you are bound to gain weight, but it might not be good weight, and may

SMITH REPLIED TO QUESTIONS IN NEWSPAPER

Answered Advertisement
After Address in Omaha Last Eve

Omaha, Nebr., Sept. 19.—(AP)—In winding up his address in Omaha last night, Gov. Smith answered from the platform eight questions dealing with prohibition, farm relief and the tariff, which he had been asked in a full page advertisement carried in the newspapers and signed by ten Nebraskans who styled themselves "citizens of both parties" but are claimed by Arthur Mullen, Democratic National Committeeman from Nebraska, to be all Republicans.

The text of the questions as read and the Governor's replies follow:

Q—"What specific federal legislation do you propose for farm relief?"
A—"If these gentlemen had read my acceptance there would be no occasion for that question. I made that clear in Omaha tonight, that the legislation working out the principle of lifting the surplus is to be handed to a commission to be worked out during the winter."

Q—"Do you believe the country will be more prosperous with liquor or without?"

Country Never Dry.
A—"Well, I assume that this is an intelligent group of men that have an understanding of what is going on around the country. Nobody, no living person, no matter how wise, no matter how well informed, no matter how far seeing could make any answer to that question, because there has never been liquor out of this country."

Q—"Do you believe that liquor is the great issue in this campaign?"

A—"I certainly do not."

Q—"How can you square your support of Democratic candidates for Congress pledged against liquor with what you say you will do for liquor?"

A—"Why, I don't know what idea these men must have of the debates, the platform and the speeches of acceptance. If they paid the slightest attention to anyone they could not ask that kind of a question, because there is nothing that the President can do about liquor. All he can do is recommend to the Congress, and he can assume the leadership of the American people in an effort to show them that his recommendation is right. That is what I propose to do, and let the American people make the decision as they will have to do."

Right to Opinion.
Q—"How can I support a dry Democrat candidate for Congress?"

A—"That question came up in the national convention, and the national convention deliberately, through the report of the committee on credentials, left every Democrat in the United States free to express his own individual opinion of what he thought on that subject."

"Now, you have an admirable, scholarly gentleman running for United States Senator here, Mr. Metcalfe. I understand that Nebraska is dry, but I would never ask Mr. Metcalfe to turn his back on the people of his state until such time as he can come out here and convince them that they are not tackling the problem the right way."

Q—"How will your proposal for the sale of liquor in a few states meet your issue of personal liberty in the other states?"

A—"The prevention of the sale of liquor is in the exercise of police power, and I have clearly showed that if a majority of the people of a given state voted for the exercise of the police power in that direction they should get it to the limit."

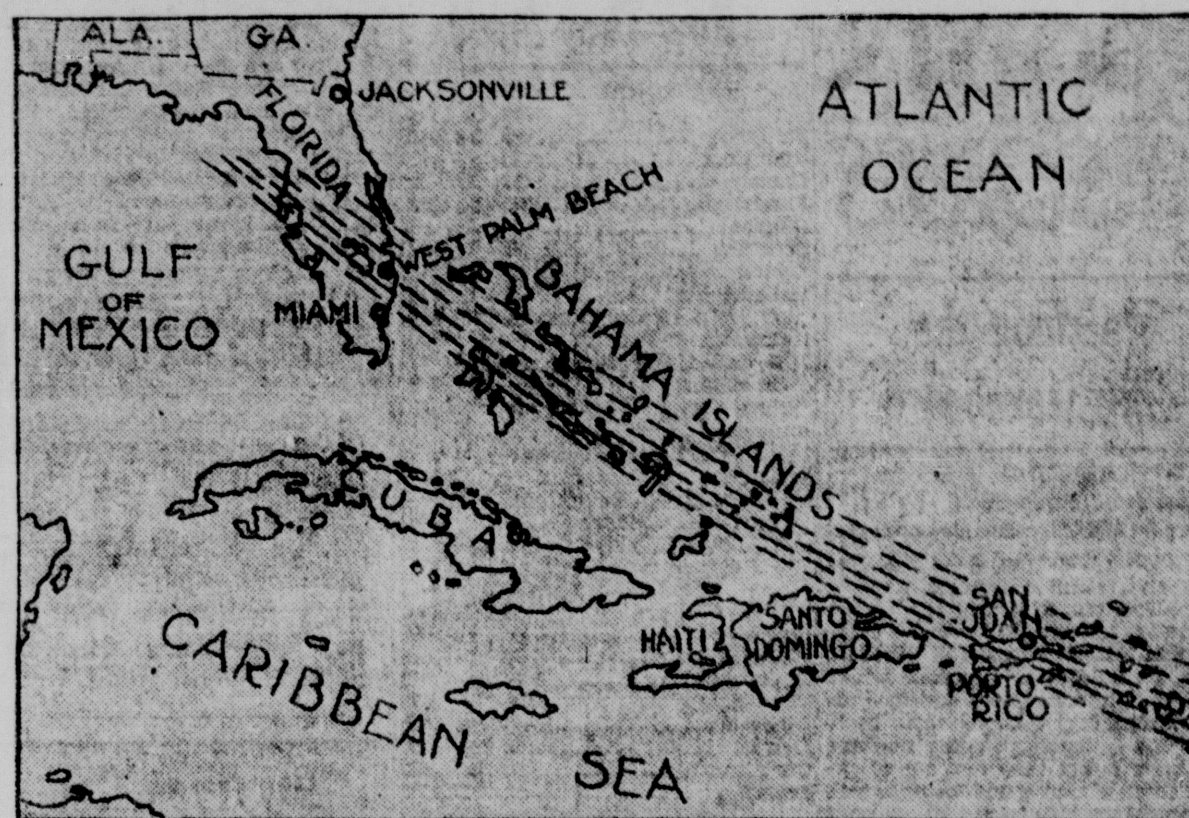

"On the other hand, following the well defined Jeffersonian principle of state's rights, the state that does not want the exercise of that police power ought to be in a position, through a majority of the people to say so."

Q—"Are you still personally opposed to the St. Lawrence waterway?"

About Waterway

A—"Why, if the gentlemen had just looked at my speech of acceptance, they would have seen that I made as clear as declaration on that as any man could make. I frankly said to the American people that while I was the Governor of the state of New York, I favored the all-American route, because it went through that state, but inasmuch as

Path of Porto Rico Florida Storm

The swath of death and destruction cut by the hurricane that swept Porto Rico, the Bahamas and struck the Florida east coast with unabated fury is graphically shown in the map above. In devastated Porto Rico, hundreds were killed, half the population is homeless and 300,000 people face the danger of famine. Warnings of the storm had been broadcast and therefore Jupiter, West Palm Beach and other Florida points dotting the east coast down to Fort Lauderdale, were ready for the gale. Miami, on the edge of the storm, was lashed by the hurricane, but was reported to have emerged without serious damage.

the figures affecting the St. Lawrence Canal, as well as the all-American route, are disputed by some eminent engineers, I am willing to leave it to Congress, after a study of the matter."

"Now number seven is something of a tricky question. It says:

"You have stated that the Underwood tariff law fulfills the pledge of this year's Democratic platform?"

"My answer to these distinguished gentlemen is that I never said that and I challenge them to find it in any public paper of mine."

The last one, number eight, is this: "Are you in favor of higher food prices in the city or lower food prices on the farm?"

"My answer to that is that the farmer can get the full benefit of the value of his crop without increasing the price in the city."

Personalities are Tabooed by Hoover

By JAMES L. WEST, JR.

(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Newark, N. J., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover today told a group of New Jersey Republican leaders that the present campaign for the presidency should not be based upon personalities, but upon issues.

Making his second speech in Newark at the conclusion of a luncheon here, the presidential nominee made a brief talk in which he addressed to them a plea for party harmony in the state and liberally praised the record of President Coolidge.

"President Coolidge," Mr. Hoover said, "has elevated economies and effectiveness in government to the rank of statesmanship in the world. No government in the world has shown diminishing expenditures within the past eight years, except our government."

In making his plea for elimination of personalities, Mr. Hoover said, "this is not and should not be a campaign of personalities. I am convinced that the good sense of the American people will cause them to form their own opinions on issues and records, rather than upon personalities."

UTILITIES ASSN. FINANCED STUDY OF RURAL POWER

Federal Trade Board Resumes Hearing of Alleged "Trust"

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The financing of rural electrification research at Iowa State College by the Iowa section of the National Electric Light Association was disclosed today in the Federal Trade Commission inquiry into the publicity activities of power utilities, by the testimony of H. P. Weeks of Davenport, director of the N. E. L. A. branch.

He produced from his records a financial statement showing that $15,000 had been appropriated by the utility organization since 1924, for the carrying on of the electrical study. This work was undertaken at the instance of Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, and was carried on in cooperation between that group, the Iowa State College, the N. E. L. A. section and the community of Garner, Iowa, he said, with Professor Frank D. Paine of the college faculty in charge.

Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, asked whether the purpose of the research was to disprove claims made of the advantages of rural electrification in connection with municipal ownership and as part of his questioning referred to the Ontario, Canada, plan. Weeks insisted that there was no aim to discourage adoption of such a plan in Iowa so far as the research was concerned.

"Our purpose was to secure information on the utilization of electricity on the farms and on the construction of farm lines," he said.

Other activities of the Iowa section of the N. E. L. A. were reviewed in detail by Healy, who had Weeks identify many documents received since the utility investigation has been under way. One of these showed that the Iowa state legislature had been sent monthly copies of the Public Service Magazine, which Weeks said was sponsored by H. J. Gondon of Chicago.

Checks paid to Walter E. Schwab of Iowa City for surveying rates charged by municipally-owned power plants were introduced. Weeks said this work was undertaken in connection with efforts under way to encourage municipal construction. Comparisons were made between rates of municipally-owned plants and public plants. A consulting engineer by profession, Schwab was also a part time instructor in Iowa University at the time of the survey, the testimony disclosed.

A check for $676 to the railroad audit and inspection service, in January 1925, was introduced by Healy. Weeks testified that this was for a study of oil engines in generation of electric power, and added that copies of the report, contending that the method was impracticable were sent to utility executives in communities where efforts were under way to install the engines. Under examination, he said that the study had been undertaken with a view to discouraging municipal adoption of the engines.

McNARY-HAUGEN BILL ENDORSED BY GOV. SMITH

Smith Assailed G. O. P. and Coolidge in His Omaha Address

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Leveling an attack on the Republican party, President Coolidge and his opponent, Herbert Hoover, for their stand on farm relief, Governor Smith declared last night that he stood for the "principle" of the McNary-Haugen bill, twice vetoed by President Coolidge.

The governor's train pulled into Omaha at 9:15 o'clock Tuesday morning. A reception committee, made up of local leaders and Arthur Mullen, Democratic national committeeman, edged through the crowd inside the train gates to approach the governor and escort him to his automobile. A band struck up "The Sidewalks of New York." After posing for photographs, the party got under way for the Fontenelle Hotel, which will be the governor's headquarters while here.

Cheers of "Hello, Al" and "Welcome Al" went up from the crowd as it followed the nominee.

Streets Decorated

Omaha's streets later were decorated for the occasion and the route to the hotel especially was in gala attire. Many lined the streets along the way.

"That was quite a demonstration," Governor Smith later remarked to newspapermen in his suite at the Fontenelle, where a huge crowd had gathered to get a peek of him. "I am informed that more than 200,000 persons had taken part in the ovation, many from cities in Iowa, the nominee said."

"Yes, it looked as if the entire population of Omaha and surrounding countryside was in the crowd."

Indians Wish Al Luck

A group of Indians, in their Winnebago and Omaha tribal costumes, called on the governor and expressed the hope that he would be elected. The nominee thanked them for the interest they had shown and said he understood the Indians had the same farm problem as the white man and he would do all he could to help them.

"What remains of the McNary-Haugen bill is a mere matter of method," the Democratic nominee asserted in an address prepared for delivery in the Auditorium here, "and I do not limit myself to the exact mechanics and methods embodied in that bill."

Just before making this declaration Governor Smith said in his prepared text:

"Various people have attempted to misrepresent and confuse my attitude with respect to the McNary-Haugen bill. I do not propose to leave the slightest doubt in anybody's mind on that subject."

Establishes Control

"As I read the McNary-Haugen bill, its fundamental purpose is to establish an effective control of the sale of exportable surplus, with the cost imposed upon the commodity benefited."

"For that principle the Democratic platform squarely stands and for that principle I squarely stand. Mr. Hoover stands squarely opposed to the principle by which the farmer could get the benefit of the tariff."

Expressing the view that "there is a clean-cut issue which the farmers and voters of the country must decide," the New York governor reiterated that the details by which "this principle shall be put into effect alone remain to be worked out."

He again promised if elected to name a nonpartisan commission of farm leaders and students of the problem to determine the exact method of relief.

Pledges Relief

"I pledge to the farmers and to the people of this country," he added, "that no stone will be left unturned to give immediate and adequate relief, by legislation carrying into practice this definite principle for which my party and I stand."

Governor Smith charged that the McNary-Haugen bill is a mere matter of method, the Democratic nominee asserted in an address prepared for delivery in the Auditorium here, "and I do not limit myself to the exact mechanics and methods embodied in that bill."

Convertible Stock

Today's STOCK seems to be of the convertible variety—convertible into BONDS. Like all good stocks, there is a par—eight, but perhaps you can beat the solution on page 9.

THE RULES
1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each pump slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

One solution is printed on page 9.

Hurricane Kills Hundreds in Porto Rico And Races On to Florida; South Dakota Town Is Wiped Out by Wind

The twisted wreckage that used to be the town of Davis, S. D., struck by a tornado that killed two persons and injured many others, is pictured above. The corner drug store and part of the little hotel that were crushed like match boxes show the terrible force of the storm that swept a path of destruction across Dakota and part of Iowa and Nebraska. Observe what the storm did to the Ford car on the right.

Republicans had violated their platform promises, had deceived the farmer and had done "nothing what ever to contribute in the slightest degree to relieve the distress or promote the welfare of the farmers."

The governor quoted the 1924 Republican platform as saying: "We recognize that agricultural activities are still struggling with adverse conditions that have brought deep distress. We pledge the party to take whatever steps are necessary to bring back a balanced condition between agriculture, industry and labor."

Pledges Prosperity

"The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industry to insure its prosperity and success."

"So that if today we have in this country a farm problem and a continuation of that distress," he added, "it cannot be said, after a reading of the 1924 platform that the Republican administration at Washington were without knowledge of the actual conditions."

"It's leaders, the men who dominated this convention, both in the Senate and outside, have fought practically every proposition of a remedial nature for agriculture, and with the assistance of presidential votes, have succeeded in frustrating all efforts at farm relief."

"Never have these so-called alleged leaders presented a farm relief measure of their own, but have contented themselves with opposing every comprehensive measure of farm relief presented by others, and now, after eight years of promise, they insist that intelligent farmers of America by making another promise."

5c IS ENOUGH FOR A GOOD SMOKE

It Buys a Dandy Cigar—If You're a Good Picker

No doubt you've done your share of hunting for "a good five-cent smoke." And finally decided "there ain't no such thing." Wait—here's the latest tip ever handed you: Havana Ribbon. Try that cigar, sir, and you'll be playing five-cent limit till the cows come home.

Havana Ribbon is as different from ordinary five-centers as a home run is different from a pop fly. That's because we've landed squarely on the secret of what makes a cigar good: Ripe tobacco. Unlike the average nickel cigar, Havana Ribbon contains no bitter under-ripe nor flat-tasting over-ripe leaves. No "scraps" or cuttings discarded in the making of higher priced cigars. But only long-riper, full-ripe leaves from the mid-section of choice tobacco plants.

"Sounds reasonable," you say. Why, man, it's nothing short of amazing! Sold everywhere. Also Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

COL. SMITH TO PLAY HOST FOR STATE IN QUINCY

Will Entertain State Welfare Conference
Next Week

The role of official host to the State of Illinois for four days has been assumed by Col. O. C. Smith, of Quincy, as chairman of the local committee for the Illinois Conference on Public Welfare to be held at Quincy, Sept. 24-28.

Col. Smith who is managing officer of the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Quincy and chairman of the Adams County chapter of the American Red Cross, has been a prominent figure in state welfare activities for many years. As superintendent of the Illinois School for the Deaf at Jacksonville, he inaugurated many new features that attracted world-wide attention and was the inventor of the Smith Audio-Controller, which enables deaf people to hear normally.

He has been a member of the executive committee of the Illinois Conference on Public Welfare for seven years, and during his term as assistant state's attorney of Franklin county, contributed a large share to child welfare work through his interest in the Illinois Orphan Home Association.

He has been a teacher, attorney, judge and soldier, having distinguished himself in the World War as the only judge advocate to merit a wound stripe, the result of his participation in the drives of St. Mihiel and the Argonne. After the Armistice, as Lieutenant Colonel, he was in charge of civil affairs in Germany until January, 1919.

Under Col. Smith's supervision Quincy is making ready for its thousands of guests, planning for them entertainment as well as instruction in the public welfare work done by the state and its many private agencies. The armory at Quincy, scene of many of the conference features, is large enough to accommodate the wide variety of exhibits and the many visitors who will come to see them. It will be decorated for the occasion to form a suitable setting for the tableau of progress in philanthropy, education, recreation and health which the conference is designed to represent.

The conference will not only draw the state's leaders in all forms of welfare work but will include delegates from men's and women's clubs, Chambers of Commerce and other groups from every city, town and rural community.

MAN WHO SANK THE L-35 NOW DRIVES PARIS TAXI

Paris.—(AP)—The man who says he sank the British submarine, L-35, with 43 men aboard, off Cronstadt, is driving a taxi in Paris.

He calls himself "Major M. N. N." in telling his story to an afternoon newspaper and made himself known only to set history straight, he says. "I was the one who caused the L-35 to be bombed and sunk, May 29, 1919," he explains. "I was in command of the fortress Krasnaja-Gorka at Cronstadt."

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Connie Mack's pennant hopes appear about ready to take wing, fly away and return only when another baseball season rolls around. Connie's hopes along with his Philadelphia Athletics ran full tilt into disaster yesterday at Cleveland where, this year, has been confined almost exclusively to home-town rooters. The Indians are going nowhere and know it but they rose out of the ruck of an eleven-game losing streak to smack the Athletics for a 3 to 2 loss.

While the A's were engaged in this reprehensible business of losing a game, the New York Yankees staged in drunken fashion to a 14 to 11 victory over the St. Louis Browns. The Yanks are holding a two game lead with only eleven games yet to play, one more than the Mackmen.

Everybody but the police reserves were called into action before the Yankees finally beat the Browns. St. Louis fans were given a chance to see Miller Huggins' four regular pitchers in action in one and the same game. Heimach, Johnson, Piggar and Hoyt followed each other to the mound in more or less rapid succession. Of the Yankees who played the whole game only George Herman Ruth failed to hit safely. The Babe went to the plate six times.

In the only other American League battle, Phil Page, Tiger recruit pitcher from Springfield of the Eastern League, celebrated his major league debut by pitching Detroit to an 8 to 5 victory over the Washington Senators.

The National League situation remained in status quo, all three leaders recording triumphs.

The league-leading St. Louis Cardinals made it five in a row over the Phillies, 4 to 2, and closed the season's series with the Quakers with 20 victories and only two defeats.

Bill Herry's home run in the tenth gave the New York Giants the edge over the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 2. Burleigh Grimes trying for his 25th victory and his sixth over the Giants, gave way to a pinch hitter in the ninth with the score two to one against him. The Pirates tied it up in the ninth but Joe Dawson, who relieved Grimes, offered one that Terry liked and the game was over.

The Chicago Cubs held fast to their position a game and a half from the Giants by lacing Boston, 8 to 3. The Cubs smashed out 17 hits, Freddy Maquire getting four of them.

Cincinnati had little trouble bowling over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 2, to make the season's count 12 to 10 in their favor.

News From Grid Camps of Large Schools of West

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—If long workouts will make a football team, there is going to be some keen competition in the Western Conference this fall.

With classes due to cut into practice sessions next week, every Big Ten coach is sending his charges at top speed (twice daily with only a few minutes out for lunch. A Western Conference football player's schedule runs something like this:

Noon—lunch followed by a chalk talk.

Afternoon—more line and back field drill, rounded off with a hard scrimmage in most camps.

Evening—more chalk talks.

Amos Alonzo Stagg of Chicago and Pat Page of Indiana, who have only 10 days to prepare for their first games, have already started on plays and formations. Other coaches are holding back until the latter part of the week when intensive scrimmages start.

Three Illinois men, including Hummer, a promising end up from the Freshman squad, failed to report yesterday because of slight injuries.

Rock Falls Grid Star Leaves Iowa

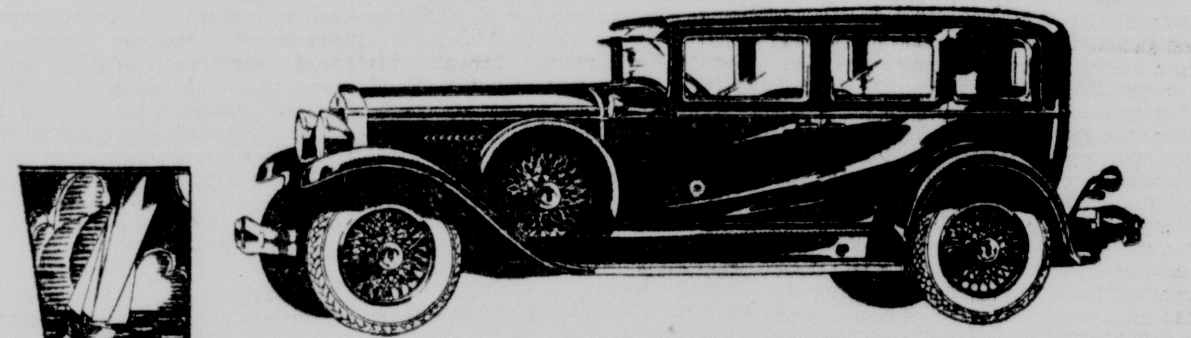

Iowa City, Sept. 19.—(AP)—As the University of Iowa football team took its first scrimmage of the season yesterday it was announced two likely squad members had departed for Center College, Ky. They were Carl Pignatelli, of Rock Falls, Ill., who turned in several bright performances at quarterback last year, and Ralph Hilton of Joliet, Ill., 250 pound sophomore lineman.

RACKET PROBES IN PHILADELPHIA MAY HIT POLICE

It Has Been Hinted Cops
are in Pay of Gang
Chieftains

BY JAMES P. KIRBY
Philadelphia, Sept. 18—(AP)—Philadelphia's police department—or a part of it, at least—is sitting on top of a volcano that threatens to erupt with a roar of scandal as District Attorney John Monaghan pursues the slimy train of the millions of dollars alleged to have passed through the hands of racketeers, gangsters and bootleggers here in the past year.

Already the grand jury's investigation has given rise to whispered rumors of impending sensations — of whole graft, of bribery on a tremendous scale, of collusion between law enforcement officials and the underworld. The atmosphere is electric with tense expectancy.

But District Attorney Monaghan, the man behind the probe, is saying nothing. Calmly, deliberately and with careful avoidance of all ostentation, he is questioning witnesses and going on with his investigation.

Rogues' Gallery "Raided"
Some things, however, are already visible behind the scenes.

There was the disclosure that photographs of certain well-known criminals, sought by Monaghan as grand jury witnesses, had mysteriously disappeared from the police rogues' gallery. Thus Monaghan's county detectives were handicapped in finding them.

There was the sudden suspension of Captain Charles C. Beckman, head of Philadelphia's 300 police detectives, pending completion of the grand jury's investigation.

And, among other things, there have been the questioning of several of Captain Beckman's "confidential investigators" and the disappearance of one of them; the public criticism of two police captains in whose precincts big stiffs were found by federal agents almost within the shadow of their station houses.

Meanwhile the seized records of the mysterious Franklin Mortgage & Investment Co.—said to have been organized by Max "Boo Ho" Hoff, alleged overlord of Philadelphia's underworld—are being closely guarded. So are the records of a firm of public accountants that audited the books of this company, reputed to have been formed for racketeering and wholesale bootlegging.

Rumors that these records will reveal bribery, graft and collusion on a gigantic and highly organized scale persist.

Prosecutor Former Judge
Monaghan, the man behind the investigation, has the reputation of being a man who never quits. He made a record for himself when, as a judge of common pleas court, he smashed Philadelphia's dope ring and sent 60 men to prison. The underworld still remembers this—and fears him.

Although the common pleas bench, in popular mind, outranks the office of district attorney, Monaghan felt that the latter office offered greater opportunity to remedy the conditions that he had observed in his 11 years as judge. So he quit the common pleas bench to run for district attorney.

During the campaign for the office Monaghan and Mayor Harry A. Mackey frequently appeared on the same platform and both committed themselves to the task of cleaning up the city. But for the eight months since their assumed office, Mackey's administration has constantly been the subject of vigorous criticism in the press.

The principle cause of criticism against the city administration has been what the press describes as the ineffectiveness of the police department, corruption, etc., under the rule of Harry C. Davis, Mackey's director of public safety.

"Davis is an able and efficient director," Mackey says.
"The conditions complained of began under General Smedley D. Butler's militarizing of the department, and the later rule of Safety Director G. W. Elliott, Butler's successor appointed by Mayor Kendrick."

Says Corruption Decreasing
Mackey insists that since the first of the year, police corruption has diminished to "the lowest degree" and cites the fact that with the advent of his administration, 3800 of the 4500 men in the police department were transferred over night for the purpose of breaking up alliances between the police and organized crime.

Monaghan's record as district attorney shows that murder cases were disposed of within one month of the commission of the crime and other offenders of less serious crimes frequently were in prison serving their sentences within a week after the crime had been committed.

But an efficient district attorney could accomplish little against the odds of a corrupt and inefficient police department. Monaghan said little publicly, but his own county detectives were working with remarkable results in places where the city police might easily have accomplished the same.

Early in August he personally took over the grand jury investigation into gang murders. Since that time, Monaghan has foregone his vacation and has been working night and day. His lunch is brought to his desk, where despairing assistants endeavor to keep warm, while their chief plods through the grand jury hearings.

Monaghan is concerned with the problem of running down to its sources the 10 millions he has already traced through Philadelphia banks, the toll of graft and corruption the booze racket has exacted in Philadelphia.

Already he knows, through his seizures of the books and records of dummy corporations, accountants, and banks, who got the money and from whence it came.

Particular men and women include always a box of Heale in their toilet articles. Heale is sold by all druggists.

Illinois Briefs

Springfield—(AP)—Robert R. Hieronymus president of the Illinois Conference on Public Welfare, today announced that a bronze tablet of Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech, presented by the sculptor, Mrs. Henry K. Holman of Chicago, would be awarded in Quincy, September 25 to 28.

Letters were sent to all counties advising them of the donation and also of the presentation of an artist's proof of an etching of Charles Lindbergh, done by the etcher Charles Overall of St. Louis, as an award to the county having the most representative delegation.

Delegates, Dr. Hieronymus said, should include the county judge, chief probation officer, overseer of the poor, chairman of the county board, head of the county farm, county or school nurse, farm adviser, home adviser, county superintendent of schools, city superintendent of schools, and high school principals, and representatives of the following:

The press, library, churches, state legislature, chamber of commerce service clubs, such as Kiwanis, Lions, county tuberculosis sanitarium, League of Women Voters, Park board, recreation activities, woman's clubs, board of education, Parent-Teacher associations, Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association, hospitals, health agencies, social centers, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Red Cross, American Association of University Women, and city council.

Springfield—(AP)—Authentic information regarding their nature is necessary for successful eradication of weeds on a farm, in the opinion of O. T. Olsen, superintendent of the division of plant industry of the state department of agriculture. The division maintains a free service for farmers, identifying weed specimens and outlining methods of eradication.

Chicago—(AP)—Published for the second time since it was written three hundred or more years ago, "Charlemagne" (The Distracted Emperor), an Elizabethan drama accredited to George Chapman, famous playwright and contemporary of Shakespeare, has been edited here by Prof. Frank L. Schoell, of the University of Chicago.

Published by Princeton University Press, the volume bears that University's estimate of it as "probably only once before and now practically unobtainable." Indicating the type of drama that is thus made available for popular reading, the play's last scene ends with Charlemagne condemning two murderers of the Empress, one of whom breaks out with this classic line—"Tys too late now to deny it; death never brings hys smarte but when a stryke gaynst law or gaynst desarte."

Urbana—(AP)—Invention of an instrument so delicate that it can detect the presence of 5 parts of lead in 10,000,000 parts of gasoline, has been announced at the University of Illinois here. Professor G. L. Clark, head of the X-ray analysis division of the Department of Chemistry is the inventor.

"For a long time," Dr. Clark said, "people interested in anti-knock gasoline have wanted a method of testing gasoline for lead tetraethyl, the material that is put into gasoline to stop gas knocks. It was believed that the presence of lead in the gasoline was dangerous, but there was no known method of finding out just how much lead really was present, and so no one could know whether there was a sufficient amount present to be dangerous to human beings."

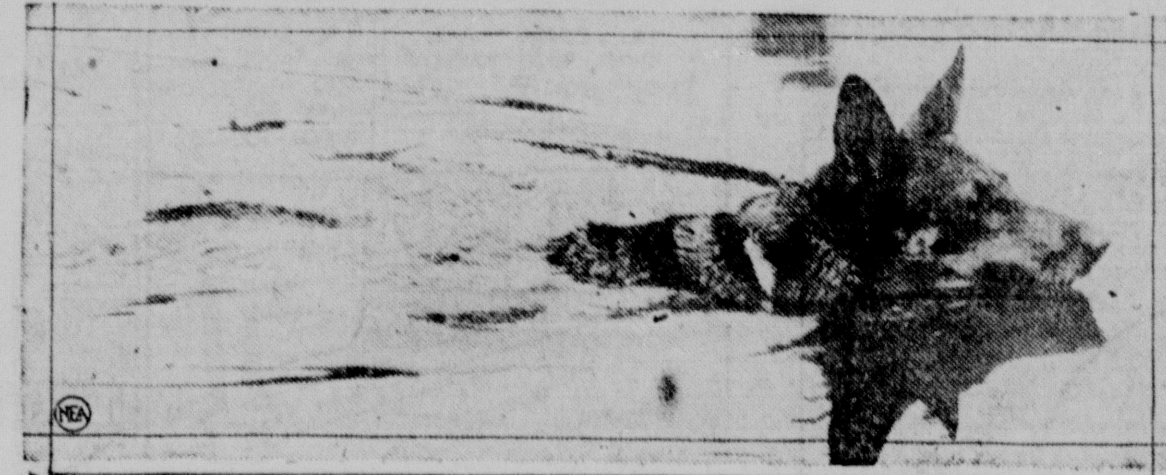

As an outgrowth of these experiments on motor fuel, the Standard Oil company established a research assistantship of $1,000 on Feb. 1, 1928, and this year have increased it to $1,200.

Urbana—(AP)—Only eleven out of 11,000 students who attended the 1927-28 sessions of the Urbana departments of the University of Illinois were ill enough to be forced to stay in the University student hospital more than twenty-eight days, according to a report issued by the office of the Dean of Men here today.

A total of 9,996 students joined the University of Illinois Hospital Association during the year. Out of this membership, 169 were benefited by free treatment at the hospital, spending a total of 5,600 days in the institution, or an average of 4.79 days each.

That student health at the university is good is attested by the fact that 312 were in only two days, 247 were in three days, 146 in four days, and only 33 over twenty days. A large percentage of those comprising the two-day patients were confined by colds and similar minor ailments. The heaviest month for student sickness was March. This is true not only for the past year but for the past five years with the exception of 1926-27 when January was the heavy month.

Dog's Albany-to-New York Swim Arouses the SPCA

Officials of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals weren't favorably impressed by efforts of "Lucky," prize-winning police dog, to swim down the Hudson River from Albany to New York, in daily stages of ten or twelve miles. They threatened to stop the swim after "Lucky" reached Poughkeepsie. John Schweigart, the dog's owner, threatened injunction proceedings. "Lucky" let others do the arguing; he kept quiet.

There has been a steady decrease in the number of students who are forced to go to hospitals. This is shown by the amounts of money expended by the association to care for its members. Last year, $19,969.63 was paid out for hospitalization of sick members, which is considerable less than the preceding year and more than $2,500 less than 1925-26. "If each student were sick 28 days out of each semester of the four years that he attends the university and has paid his hospital membership regularly each semester, he will have received $784 hospital benefit at a total cost to him of only $24," Assistant Dean of Men, Fred H. Turner, stated in discussing the report.

"We consider $3.00 a semester a very reasonable health insurance when one considers the possible benefits to members that may be derived from this amount."

Fear Jail Delivery

Greenville, Ill., Sept. 18—(AP)—"They are coming over to get Freddie Wooten out."

This telephone message, received at the Sheriff's office from a pay station in East St. Louis, Ill., today caused guards with saved off shotguns to be placed about the Bond county jail where Wooten, a Birger gangster, is held on a charge of robbing the bank of Pocatontos in 1926.

Wooten was brought here yesterday from Edwardsville after Franklin county authorities decided not to try him for participation in the slaying of Highway Patrolman Lory Price.

MARITIME ON TRIAL

Harrisburg, Ill., Sept. 18—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Stephenson, 30, is on trial here in Circuit Court, charged with killing her husband John Stephenson on the night of Feb. 6. She was with her sister in their home north of Eldorado when Stephenson came home at midnight in an intoxicated condition. She claims she shot him while he was trying to attack her. The State's Attorney charges he was shot while asleep.

Constitution Defines the Powers of the President and Legislative Bodies

6 This is Constitution Week, commemorating the adoption of the supreme law of the United States. This is the third of a series of five daily features explaining guarantees, privileges and interesting facts about its Constitution.

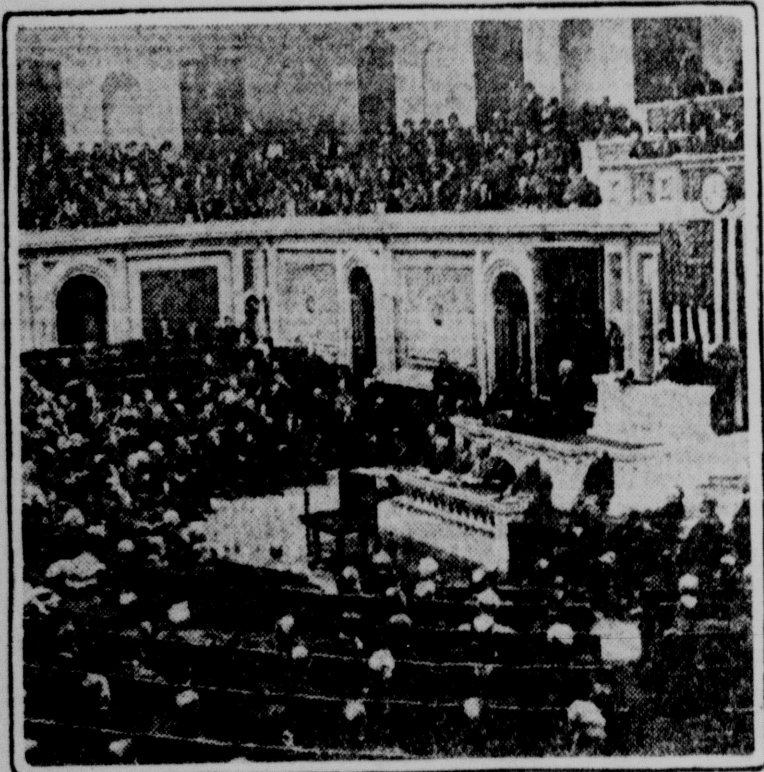

BY W. A. McKEARNEY
Prepared for the Cleveland Bar Association
Duties of the President: He may make treaties, nominate and appoint ambassadors, ministers, consuls, judges of the supreme court and other officers of the United States—all with the approval of the Senate.

A cabinet meeting is sketched by the artist, with an inset of President Coolidge.

He convenes Congress on unusual occasions, receives ambassadors and is charged with responsibility for enforcing the law.

The members of the cabinet are appointed by the president to help him in the numerous executive details of government. Each one is head of a department of the government.

Members of the House of Representatives must be 25 years old, citizens for not less than seven years. They are elected every second year. They originate all laws for the raising of revenue. They pass laws, with the Senate, for the government of the people, but they can make no laws unless they have authority under the Constitution.

Members of the Senate must be 30 years old, citizens for not less than nine years. They have sole power to try all impeachments. They vote on treaties made by the president, and must approve all his major appointments. The Seventeenth amendment provides for the direct election of senators—two from each state.

Just Two More Hollywood Suits

Divorce suits on file in Los Angeles have scarred two more Hollywood romances. Renee Adoree, above, star of "The Big Parade," alleges her husband, William S. Gill, compelled her to drive home late at night and expressed the hope that she break her neck. Doris May, inset, charged cruelty, saying that her husband, Donald Macdonald, in private nagged her and, in public, "raved about her beauty and their love." Miss Adoree, it is said, later planned to withdraw her suit.

FLORIDA STORM TOLL GROWS IN LATEST REPORT

lives had been lost in Palm Beach county, mostly in the lowland sections in the vicinity of Lake Okechobee.

Property damage was placed at $25,000,000 and the number of homeless soared into the thousands. Conditions around the county were reported as "deplorable" by Red Cross officials who characterized the hurricane as the worst that has hit this section in years.

Streets are Littered

They said that damage to property was greater in proportion to the size of the cities than in the hurricane that swept Miami in 1926. Palm Beach and West Palm Beach were hit hard. Red Cross officials estimated that between 90 and 95 per cent of the buildings in the two cities were either damaged or destroyed. Streets were filled with debris and expensive palm trees by the score were strewn everywhere.

In the outlying backwoods section, in the vicinity of Lake Okechobee around Okechobee City, Belle Glade and Canal Point, reports indicated that conditions there were deplorable with bodies of the drowned floating around on the waters that flooded that section when the dikes of Lake Okechobee broke last Sunday night.

Red Cross workers estimated that 400 persons lost their lives in Palm Beach County alone. The majority were residents of the villages and settlements that dot the shores of Lake Okechobee.

Engulfed Quickly

These people were engulfed in most instances so quickly that they had no time to flee from the flimsy homes in which they had barricaded themselves as the best possible shelter from the terrible winds.

Bodies found in the lake regions were buried as soon as they were recovered and there was no way of checking the actual casualty list except through reports made by Red Cross headquarters.

Amphibious and trucks rolled through water often over the running boards, bringing out the injured and dead and evacuating the homeless. Belle Glade was completely evacuated last night.

Many of the refugees, scores of whom were injured, were brought to West Palm Beach for medical treatment and food and shelter. The hospitals, hotels and churches were filled with destitute persons. More than 7500 refugees were cared for at the Red Cross headquarters yesterday and scores were being brought in hourly.

With facilities taxed to capacity, plans were made to transfer 1000 refugees to Miami and Fort Lauderdale today.

Food, clothing and medical supplies are ample here to cope with the situation. Red Cross officials reported, but the urgent demand for cots and bedding.

FIGURES AVAILABLE

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 19—(AP)—While the remnant of last week's West Indian hurricane was veering toward the Virginia Capes, Florida today checked a reported known death list of 250, casualties in the thousands and an emergency requiring military aid and immediate relief.

For the first time since Sunday when the hurricane struck the mainland just south of West Palm Beach, comprehensive figures on the dead, and official computation of damage were becoming available.

Prefacing his estimate with the statement that "this storm can't be exaggerated," Howard Selby, chairman of the Palm Beach County Red Cross committee last night said the death toll in the county alone, one of the worst hit areas of the state, would range around 400, and that damage would be $25,000,000. Senator Robinson, Democratic vice presidential nominee, who left the area last night after donating the use of his private car, said damage was estimated between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000.

But out of the border towns of Lake Okechobee came word of the greatest loss of life, the missing reported by various relief committees ranging around 300. The hurricane swept up a huge wave in the lake, which overran the countryside all the way to the eastern shore of Okechobee City on the north, to Belle Glade on the southern tip. The list as verified by competent authorities, however, was 32 identified dead.

Governor John Martin authorized military units to proceed into the stricken areas, from Tampa, Arcadia and other points, instructing Adjutant General V. B. Collins to confer with the Red Cross at West Palm Beach and use his troops accordingly.

On receipts of reports from the Red Cross at Miami, which escaped harm, that conditions were "extremely critical" from Fort Lauderdale to West Palm Beach, the Governor sent a telegram to Charles H. Mann, president of the State Board of Health, which asked fullest co-operation.

Serums Needed

Typhoid and other serums were badly needed, particularly in the Okechobee section, where sanitary conditions were extremely serious. The relief workers sent in from Miami reported that 150 bodies had been counted south of Pahokee, and only 11 had been moved into town due to poor facilities. Many were left on dikes to await trucks.

Apparently serious conditions obtained in Florida only at Canal Point and the eastern shore of Lake Okechobee and in the Palm Beach area, which embraced Pompano, Deerfield, Del Ray, Boynton, Lake Worth and smaller adjoining communities.

Small Florida escapees from serious nature when the disturbances turned Monday morning somewhere east of Tampa, and struck toward Jacksonville.

WHIRLWIND by ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SYBIL THORNE, bride of two weeks, has deserted her husband in Havana. RICHARD EUSTIS, fascinating and unusual, swept her into an impetuous marriage after five days' courtship. They met on a shipboard and were married in Havana harbor. On their wedding night Richard became intoxicated, and despite constant promises, he continues to drink. Following a particularly sordid scene, Sybil leaves him to spend the night in another hotel. In the morning, moved to forgive him, she returns to their apartment. Richard lies in a drunken stupor across the bed. On the floor there is an empty bottle and the card of one of Havana's notorious women.

Completely disillusioned, Sybil seeks MARCEL BLAKE, a Boston social worker, with whom she had made the trip to Cuba. Marcel, mentioning, has become engaged to JACK MOORE, an American salesman working in Havana. Sybil tells them of the final break with Richard, and begs Marcel to return to Boston with her. They wait until the afternoon, leaving Eustis still asleep.

On the way home Marcel surprises Sybil by suggesting an immediate divorce, and advancing the possibility of marriage with CRAIG NEWHALL. Craig is a fine young man—the most eligible bachelor in Boston—and very much in love with Sybil. She was not engaged to him at the time of her mad marriage with Eustis.

Sybil becomes ill and Marcel, thoroughly alarmed, seeks the advice of Dr. Henderson, a passenger on their boat.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

MABEL had never felt so uncomfortable in her life. A brick red flush intensified her unbecoming sunburn. She felt that all the blood in her face had rushed to her blistered nose. Even her eyes smarted with painful embarrassment.

"And I'm a social worker," she reminded herself sternly, "and supposed to be hard boiled!"

Dr. Henderson was regarding her curiously.

"If there is anything I can do—" he repeated, and smiled in an amiable, professional sort of way.

"It isn't about myself I wanted to ask you," she stammered. "It's a friend of mine. Oh, Doctor, won't you sit over there for a few minutes so that I can talk without anybody hearing us?"

They found deck chairs while poor Mabel murmured distractedly, "You're very good." And when they had seated themselves she began to talk rapidly.

"I don't know how to begin. Perhaps I'm foolish to bother you, but I'm so worried. You see—it's this way, Doctor—" and she launched into the story of Sybil's marriage.

"Now," she concluded hopelessly, "you see how it is. If the poor girl's going to have a baby, it's perfectly awful, for she doesn't mean to tell anyone that she has been married. She doesn't want to have anything to do with that wicked man. And besides—it would be terrible to bring a child into the world with a heritage like that."

"Richard Eustis was drunk almost every blessed minute. If she's going to have a baby, everybody will know about her marriage. And they'd know she had run away from her husband. Oh, it would be so dreadful!"

Mabel sighed miserably. Then a thought, like lightning, flashed across her mind.

"Heavens above!" she groaned.

Mabel never closed her eyes. The dreadful uncertainty of it! In four days they would be with Craig and the family. Mabel pounded her pillow fiercely and moaned in silent misery.

"Of all the horrible complications!"

The next morning Sybil went to breakfast in the salon. But it was the last time she essayed it. She had luncheon and dinner brought to her on deck, and announced her intention that evening of having all her meals in her deck chair.

"It's really much pleasanter," she said. "It's so stuffy in the dining room."

After that she spent most her time in the open, even sleeping one hot night on the boat deck. And so the days passed, lazily and pleasantly enough, until the journey home was over.

THEY were getting in in the afternoon. Sybil, in a deck chair, lunched an apple meditatively.

"Well, Mab," she confided, "I've made up my mind what I'm going to do. I'm not going to say one single word about Richard to anybody."

"If Craig still wants to marry me, after the shameful way I've treated him, I'm going to wait until I'm altogether sure of myself. Then, if I know I want to marry him—and, oh, my dear, I'd be sure this time—I'll make a clean breast of everything. Perhaps it will kill Craig's love, but I guess that would be his punishment."

"As if you hadn't had enough now!" interrupted Mabel.

"Life's all punishment for me," "Oh, don't be morbid, dear. It isn't exactly a bed of roses for any of us, you know. Makes you wonder what it's all about, doesn't it? Life's so hellish—it seems as if there ought to be something good somewhere."

"Well, I'll have my little heaven, if I ever patch things up with Craig. If he cares enough, Mab, I could get a divorce after a while."

"Of course you could, dear. What did I tell you?"

"Well, there wouldn't be any sense in it, if it wasn't going to do some good. Do you suppose Craig will want me, Mab—when he knows?"

"Oh, I'm sure he will, Sib. I think real love can forgive most anything."

"But I couldn't forgive Rich."

"Of course you couldn't. That was different. He insulted you—outraged you—oh, my dear, there isn't any comparison at all."

"Perhaps Craig will think I treated him as horribly as Rich treated

DESPERADO CAN TRACE CAPTURE
TO HIS SINGING

Fate Plays Prank on Ohio
Man Who Sang in Church Choir

By NEA Service—
Cleveland, Ohio.—Fate plays queer pranks—often when a man's life is involved.
One of the very few good things that Paul Jawarski ever did was to sing in the choir of the Little Orthodox-Ukrainian church at Butler, Pa.—for Jawarski is the confessed killer of 26 men, the leader of one of the most daring and ruthless payroll bandit gangs that ever terrorized the coal district of western Pennsylvania and is under sentence of electrocution with a price of $5000 on his head. Jawarski and his gang made a specialty of payroll holdups and for several years was so successful that the gang's total loot is estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.
But if Jawarski had not sung in the Ukrainian church choir, he might still be at liberty today instead of lying wounded in a Cleveland hospital and facing the prospect of electrocution in Pennsylvania or Ohio as soon as he recovers.
In August, 1922, this man, regarded as one of the most desperate criminals in the country, shot his way out of the Allegheny county jail in Pittsburgh, shortly before he was to be electrocuted for a payroll murder. There followed a great man hunt that extended all over the United States, parts of Canada, South America and Europe. But Jawarski was shrewd and he escaped capture for over a year.

Just the other day, Jawarski, accompanied by John Vashinder, who escaped from the Pittsburgh jail with the gangster, and himself a convicted murderer because he killed a man for refusing him 25 cents, strolled into a small Cleveland restaurant. They paid little attention to a man sitting across the counter from them. But in a flash this man, John Zawrowski, now a grocery clerk, recognized the desperado—because he, too, had sung in that little church choir at Butler, Pa. Zawrowski had desired to be a priest of his church, but had lacked funds to gain the necessary education.
There followed one of the most desperate gun battles in the history of Cleveland. Zawrowski slipped out of the restaurant and called the police. The moment Jawarski saw the police enter the door, he pulled one of two guns he was carrying and opened fire. One patrolman was slain, another seriously wounded and a bystander, hit by one of Jawarski's bullets, is not expected to live.
Jawarski ran from the restaurant with other policemen close on his trail. He barricaded himself in a house a few blocks away. A hundred patrolmen surrounded the building. Tear gas bombs finally forced Jawarski to the door. As he opened the door with an automatic in his hand, Policeman Yaro Koudele, blazed away with a sawed off shotgun and Jawarski slumped to the floor without firing another shot. Jawarski has admitted he did all the shooting in the restaurant, his pal Vashinder, having slipped out a back door.

Long known for their payroll robberies in the Pittsburgh coal area, the Jawarski gang staged its most daring crime a little more than a year ago by dynamiting a big steel-covered money wagon of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Co., near Cloverdale, Pa. That job yielded them $104,000 in cold cash.
Hours in advance the macadam road along which the pay car was to pass was mined. As it rumbled over the spot, there was a mighty roar. A half dozen guards and drivers were blown high into the air. The big money wagon was split

YOU CAN'T BLAME YOUNG

Here Is the Pretty Indiana Miss Whom Famous
Swimmer Persuaded to Say "Yes"

Pretty Jewel Cheatwood of Terre Haute, Ind., said "yes" to George Young winner of the Catalina Channel marathon swim, when he asked her to marry him and announcement of the engagement followed. Miss Cheatwood is quite a swimmer herself, having participated in the last two Toronto events. She was a life guard at Hamilton, O., this summer. Date for the wedding has not been set.

open like a sardine can.

From the adjacent underbrush Jawarski and his gang appeared. Money from the shattered pay car littered the road. They scooped up the $104,000 and fled.

Even more daring and brutal had been the holdup of another pay car near Mt. Lebanon, Pa., at Christmas, 1922, in which $23,000 was stolen. Two masked figures armed with deadly-looking automatic rifles halted this car at a lonely spot. Four more of the gang quickly appeared and surrounded the machine.

Hands high in the air, the paymaster and his guards dismounted into the roadway. One of the guards was ordered to lie on his stomach. He questioned the command and a gun barked twice. As he lay squirming in death agony in the glistening snow, another bandit walked over, placed a shotgun against the prostrate form and pulled the trigger.
"That'll finish you," he muttered. "And after this you'll learn to do as you are told."

Jawarski was also charged with the murder of Isaiah Gump, another guard, during the holdup of another pay car near Mollenauer, Pa., shortly before Christmas, 1925. This job netted $48,000.

Other desperate robberies and brutal murders were also laid to Jawarski and his gang.

Captured in Detroit a short time after the $104,000 robbery, he was tried and sentenced to death at Pittsburgh.

Then came the jail break made possible by two 45 caliber automatics, slipped to him through the bars by his brother, Sam Jawarski.

The fugitives' trail was lost until Jawarski was shot down in Cleveland. One of his gang—Stanley Bodziakowski, dapper bandit who posed as a young millionaire—was captured after a world-wide chase. Detectives trailed him to Ecuador in South America, to Monte Carlo, where he lost $6000 in two nights, through his native Poland and finally to Montreal. There Bodziakowski was captured.

Many Mines Idle

Belleville, Ill., Sept. 18—(AP)—Five of the seventy mines of the Belleville subdistrict, in which 950 miners refused to work because of their disapproval of the wage reduction agreement, were still idle today. Other mines resumed operation yesterday and were working today.

Centralla, Ill., Sept. 18—(AP)—A walkout of 255 men in the Glenridge coal mine here today resulted in suspension of activities and brought the total of miners here who refused to work to approximately 500.

About 245 men who worked intermittently at mine No. 5 have also left their mine. The trouble was believed due to the cut in wages effective in the new wage agreement between operators and miners.

The Glenridge miners have worked steadily, 6 days a week, since 1922. A closed meeting was held by the miners last night.

Your Stomach

To inquire properly into the condition of the stomach requires approach from many different angles. The day of looking at the tongue, inquiring about the state of the bowels and writing out a prescription has already passed. Guesswork must be avoided and scientific investigation should prevail.

The first thing required is a thorough acquaintance with the history of the case, which embodies information relating to the outstanding complaint, family and personal traits, habits, and past medical record. The present medical records are then properly reviewed and analyzed.

The next requirement is a complete physical examination, which is concerned with the status of all organs of special sense, the glands, the mouth and throat, the chest organs, the abdominal viscera, the circulation, the nervous system, and the organs of sex.

Following this procedure comes the employment of laboratory methods for the study of the excrementitious or eliminative material (urine, stool, and sputum); the secretory fluids such as saliva, stomach juice, intestinal juice, and bile; the blood fluid and blood constituents. At times mechanical methods of study are resorted to. Finally an x-ray study is

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Build new fences

Now!

MANY farmers in this section were unable to get fences built last spring. Maybe next spring will be a repetition of 1928. Better do your fencing now—this fall—while you have time.

You can do it with RED TOP Steel Posts. One man with the RED TOP Driver can drive 200 to 300 posts a day through hard, dry soil and align them perfectly. By driving 50 to 100 posts in an afternoon you can sandwich your fence work in between other jobs and soon clean it up.

With a few RED TOP Posts you can repair weak spots in your fence lines—keep stock from breaking in and save both growing crops and valuable animals.
